So Versatile, You'll Think It Can Do Anything—MT Series

- Pacific Bearing's Most Versatile Actuator
- Provides Fast, Accurate & Repeatable Linear Motion
- Sealed Against Contamination
- T-slots for Easy Mounting

Roscoe, IL – May 23, 2008 Pacific Bearing Company is pleased to announce its brand new line of linear actuators. With a reputation for providing the most innovative solutions to the most difficult applications, PBC has recently introduced the MT linear actuator—the most versatile in their new line. With one exterior design and multiple different configurations for an interior design, the MT actuator can be utilized in a wide variety of different applications and industries: food and beverage, packaging, automotive, and medical equipment. And With t-slots for easy mounting, the installation process is a snap.

The MT series actuator provides a large amount of options for a great deal of different applications, even horizontal and vertical applications. This system also provides a longer stroke length; which is a must for applications that require greater distance between tasks. Magnetically sealed to keep contaminants out, the MT series is an obvious candidate for working in the dingiest environments, but it is also excellent in working in clean-room, laboratory and other medical surroundings.
